

Scientist & Independent Presidential Candidate Harry Braun provides a history lesson on the Oil-Based U.S. Foreign Policy

Harry Braun is shown in his office above with Lockheed solar ocean thermal hydrogen production systems behind him on the left and "Windship" hydrogen production systems on the right that were developed by engineering professor William Heronemus, who served as a former superintendent of shipbuilding for the United States Navy. Both systems could have been mass-produced in the 1800's, and either one of these technologies could replace all fossil and nuclear fuels in the USA and worldwide while providing a vast sanctuary for the remaining fish and other marine organisms in the three-billion-year-old global ocean ecosystems that are now the final stages of being hunted into extinction by mindless Free Market forces..

All of the other Republican and Democratic Presidential Candidates are advocating that the U.S. drop more highly-radioactive bombs on unknown people in foreign lands for oil, most of which is going to China, in spite of the fact that American taxpayers have already spent over $18 trillion for the resulting Oil Wars and tanker protection services in the Middle East just since 1970, which is roughly equal to the current U.S. National Debt.

In sharp contrast, Harry Braun is recommending that the majority of American citizens, which he is seeking to empower with his proposed Democracy Amendment, should end the bombing and Oil Wars immediately, and use those unspent trillions of dollars to replace the oil and other highly-toxic fossil and nuclear fuels that are making the Earth uninhabitable, with 2.7 million two-megawatt wind-powered hydrogen production systems, which are no more difficult to mass-produce than the 17 million automotive vehicles that are sold each year in the United States, although only about three million of those 17 million vehicles are now "assembled" in the USA.

Few if any automobiles are now truly made in the USA, and while Donald Trump repeatedly blames China for stealing American jobs, the reality is that it was multinational corporations whose only loyalty is to making more money, who dismantled the tooling and manufacturing facilities in the U.S. and shipped them to China, which had slave wages and no environmental regulations. And this is exactly what Trump and the other Republican presidential candidates want for the USA.

Both Republicans and Democrats, however, continue to advocate a U.S. foreign policy where multinational oil corporations use the U.S. armed forces and military intelligence assets to install repressive governments worldwide, who will allow them to extract fossil fuels and minerals, leaving hundreds of millions of indigenous Muslims in poverty in a contaminated wasteland, which is the fundamental reason why the radical Muslims now hate Americans.

Hillary Clinton, Lindsay Graham and Marco Rubio are all considered experts on U.S. history and foreign policy by the corporate censored news media, yet these so-called "experts" now state that killing Saddam Hussein was the right thing to do, in spite of the catastrophic chaos that the war has unleashed in the Middle East and now Europe. These so-called experts are obviously unaware that Saddam Hussein's Sunni Muslim Baath party was put into power by the United States CIA during the Kennedy Administration, which was not revealed to the American public until 30 years later in a page one story in The New York Times on March 14, 2003.

American president's talk about supporting democracy abroad, but since the Oil Age began, U.S. governments lead by both Democrats and Republicans have supported brutal and undemocratic regimes worldwide for oil and gas, minerals and other multinational corporate interests, in countries such as Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Egypt, Iran, Vietnam, Chile, Indonesia, the Congo, the Philippines, Pakistan, and Iraq – to name a few. According to disclosures by the U.S. Senate Committee on Intelligence, the CIA provided lists of hundreds of suspected communists and leftists to the anti-communist Baathists, who then proceeded to murder them. Many of the people killed were Iraq's highly educated elite, including doctors, lawyers, scientists and other political and military professionals. Britain and Israel supported the coup, while France and Germany opposed the action.

But after the coup, Hussein and the Sunnis became loyal U.S. allies to president's Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon, Ford, Carter, and Reagan, and the Sunnis established the only secular country in the Arab Middle East, which allowed complete freedom of religion for Jews and Christians, while allowing woman to have absolutely equal rights as men in all aspects of Iraq's society and law. The U.S. supported Hussein in his war against Iran, including providing Iraq with toxic chemical weapons, and before Hussein invaded Kuwait, he first met with the U.S. Ambassador April Glaspie and James Baker to discuss his intentions to reclaim the former Iraqi land that was then owned by Kuwait. The New York Times (23 Sept 1990) documented Glaspie provided the following message to Hussein:

“We have no opinion on the Arab-Arab conflicts, like your border disagreement with Kuwait. I was in the American Embassy in Kuwait during the late 1960s. The instruction we had during this period was that we should express no opinion on this issue and that the issue is not associated with America. James Baker has directed our official spokesmen to emphasize this instruction.

We hope you can solve this problem using any suitable methods via Klibi (Chedli Klibi), Secretary General of the Arab League) or via President Mubarak. All that we hope is that these issues are solved quickly.”

Thus Saddam was given the green light to invade Kuwait, yet for some unknown reason, president George H.W. Bush did not get the memo, and the result was the first Iraq War that killed untold thousands of innocent Iraqi soldiers and civilians who were doing their best to defend their country from a Superpower. And this chaotic and illegal war is now evolving into World War III, where over 60 million people have lost everything and are invading Europe, and the Republican's blame it on Obama.

But no one mentions that the only U.S. national security interest in Iraq and the Middle East is oil and other fossil fuels, which the National Academy of Sciences has testified to Congress are rapidly making the Earth uninhabitable from the chemical contamination and climate change superstorm chaos that is already destroying food production systems worldwide, and its going to get exponentially worse as orders of magnitude more carbon is now being released as the polar regions continue to melt.

Thus rather than nation building, the Bush/Cheney administration used false intelligence to destroy Iraq by spending approximately $2.5 trillion of U.S. taxpayers money to attack and kill Saddam Hussein and his family by dropping over 265,000 uranium-tipped bombs and munitions, on the Cradle of Civilization from 1991 to 2010. Moreover, an additional $6 trillion is also going to be spent on the over 500,000 wounded U.S. soldiers who survived, which is $12 million per soldier.

Yet none of the presidential candidates, including the so-called conservatives, ever talk about the staggering costs of the ISIS war, or the fact that the existing U.S. bomb supply is rapidly being depleted, and such munitions take years to build once the money is authorized by the Congress, which thus far has taken no action. While the Obama administration has depleted the bulk of the bombs on some 30,000 rag tag ISIS fighters, that means the U.S. would be forced to rely on its aging and corroding nuclear weapons in any armed conflicts with both Russia and/or China, especially given the tensions that now exist between these countries as an inevitable and highly-predictable result of more and more people competing for fewer and fewer resources.

According to a CBS News 60 minutes report on Dick Cheney's 30-year career prior to the Iraq War, when Cheney was moving between being the CEO of Halliburton and holding some of the highest offices in the Pentagon. Thus he was able to secure secret, no bid, cost-plus contracts with the Department of Defense for Halliburton -- and all he needed was a war. Chris Matthews on MSNBC reported that after the election of the Bush/Cheney administration, but before they were actually sworn in, Cheney contacted the Defense Department requesting detailed information on only one country, and that country was Iraq -- which was long before 9/11. But 9/11 was used as the excuse for Cheney's war, even though the hijackers were from Saudi Arabia and not Iraq.

As such, Iraq and the Cradle of Civilization was destroyed for the profits of Dick Cheney and Halliburton, and Halliburton is still very much involved in the Oil Wars now underway in the Middle East and Ukraine. Yet after the Iraq war, The New York Times reported that most of Iraq's oil in Southern Iraq went to China, which dropped no bombs. And the only lease that was provided to a U.S. oil company in the Northern Kurdistan region of Iraq was provided to Hunt Oil, a relatively small Texas oil company that was a major financial backer of George W. Bush, which then turned around and sold the lease to ExxonMobil and its fracking partner Halliburton.

In addition to the trillions spent on the Oil Wars, Princeton and Harvard University studies have documented that oil company lobbyists also secured well over $10 trillion from American taxpayers for oil tanker protection services since 1970. This is more than twice the $4 trillion cost of building the 2.7 million, two-megawatt wind-powered hydrogen production systems that would permanently displace all of the oil and other fossil and nuclear fuels, chemicals and products now used in the USA by making zero carbon solar-sourced hydrogen from water with electricity. Although as Henry Ford demonstrated in the 1920's, the least expensive hydrogen, ethanol and plastics that were 10 times stronger than steel, was made from cannabis, which is the real reason oil lobbyists made it illegal in 1937 with no recorded vote in either the House or Senate, and without the constitutional amendment that was required to make alcohol illegal as per Article 1, Section 8 of the U.S. Constitution.

Marco Rubio was interviewed by Wolf Blitzer on CNN when he stated that wind power was useless because it cannot provide fuel for our automobiles and aircraft. Thus Rubio is both historically and technically illiterate, since he does not even understand high-school chemistry, whereby electricity from the wind can create carbon-free and completely renewable hydrogen fuel from water.

This "electrolytic" hydrogen production was first demonstrated in the United Kingdom in the year 1800, long before the Oil Age began, and it has now contaminated every man, woman and child in the USA and worldwide, including the unborn who now soak in a witches brew of oil-based poisons from the point of conception. The result has been an epidemic of super sticky "amyloid" plaques that Wikipedia has reported are the molecular cause of a broad spectrum of diseases, including cancer, Alzheimer's, and Autism. And such candidates without a knowledge of environmental toxicology and true history of U.S. foreign policy are essentially people without a memory, who because they are bribed by oil money keep repeating the same mistakes, exactly like Hillary Clinton and the other presidential candidates who think they are so intelligent.

These are just some of the reasons why the majority of Americans are going to ratify Braun's proposed Democracy Amendment with the Article V Citizen Ballot that can be downloaded as a verifiable paper ballot from the DemocracyAmendmentUSA.net website, who will then proceed to elect Harry Braun as the first and founding President of the American Constitutional Democracy in 2016, which will be directed by a Universal Mind of over 60 million citizens.
